British Expansion, Policies, 1857 and Socio-Religious

Reform

Indian History gives about 11 questions a paper on average; modern India usually takes 3-5 of them. Inside this chapter the safest bets are reform-institution-to-founder matching (asked in 2013, 2018 and 2023), the three land revenue systems, and the 1857 centre-to-leader pairs.

This is the chapter where a trading company turns into a government, and where Indian society begins to argue with itself about sati, widows, caste and the Vedas. RPSC does not ask you to interpret any of it. It asks who did what, in which year, and in which province - so the whole chapter reduces to a set of clean tables.

From trader to ruler - Plassey, Buxar and the Diwani

Start with one idea. The Company did not conquer Bengal in one battle; it took three steps. Plassey gave it a puppet Nawab. Buxar gave it military supremacy over three powers at once. The Diwani gave it the money. Once you have money and an army, you are the government. That is the whole story of 1757-1765, and RPSC asks it as dates and names.

The eight years that made the Company a state

- Plassey, 23 June 1757 - Clive against Nawab Siraj-ud-Daulah; Mir Jafar was rewarded with the throne of Bengal.
- Buxar, 22 October 1764 - the English commander was Hector Munro; this is the battle that settled British political supremacy in the east.
- Treaty of Allahabad, 1765 - Shah Alam II gave the Diwani against an annual pension of Rs 26 lakh.
- Dual Government - Company held the Diwani (revenue), the Nawab kept the Nizamat (law and order); power without responsibility.
- Warren Hastings ended the dual system in 1772 and became the first Governor-General of Bengal in 1773.

- Sequence to memorise: Plassey 1757, Wandiwash 1760, Buxar 1764, Salbai 1782 - this exact ordering has been asked.
- Mir Jafar is the Plassey man; Mir Qasim is the Buxar man. They are different Nawabs.
- Diwani = right to collect revenue. Nizamat = police, justice, army. Learn the two words.

Two instruments of expansion - Subsidiary Alliance and Doctrine of Lapse

After 1765 the British stopped fighting for every inch. They designed two legal devices instead. Wellesley's Subsidiary Alliance swallowed a state while leaving its ruler on the throne. Dalhousie's Doctrine of Lapse swallowed it when the ruler died without a natural heir. Learn who invented which, and the first case of each - that pair is the standard question.

Subsidiary Alliance vs Doctrine of Lapse

Subsidiary Alliance	Doctrine of Lapse
Lord Wellesley (Governor-General 1798-1805)	Lord Dalhousie (1848-56)
Ruler keeps his throne, loses his foreign policy and army	State is annexed outright and ends
State pays for British troops stationed in it; a British Resident sits at court	Applied when a ruler died without a natural heir; adopted sons not recognised for succession to the state
First accepted by the Nizam of Hyderabad, 1798	First applied to Satara, 1848
Awadh 1801; the Peshwa by the Treaty of Bassein, 1802	Jaitpur and Sambalpur 1849, Udaipur 1852, Jhansi 1853, Nagpur 1854

Annexations under Dalhousie

State	Year	Ground
Satara	1848	Lapse - the first case
Jaitpur and Sambalpur	1849	Lapse
Udaipur	1852	Lapse
Jhansi	1853	Lapse - refusal to recognise Damodar Rao
Nagpur	1854	Lapse
Awadh	1856	Alleged misgovernance - NOT lapse
Punjab	1849	Conquest, after the Second Anglo-Sikh War

TRAP

Awadh is the standard trick. It was annexed by Dalhousie in 1856, but on the plea of misgovernance, not under the Doctrine of Lapse. Any question asking which state was NOT annexed under Lapse is pointing at Awadh.

The wars - four fronts, and the treaty that closed each

Four sets of wars, fought against four powers, over roughly sixty years. You are almost never asked about the fighting. You are asked which treaty ended which war, and who was ruling when the annexation happened. So read this table as a matching exercise, not as military history.

British expansion - Bengal to Awadh, 1757 to 1856

War to treaty to outcome

War	Years	Treaty / outcome
First Anglo-Mysore	1767-69	Treaty of Madras
Second Anglo-Mysore	1780-84	Treaty of Mangalore
Third Anglo-Mysore	1790-92	Treaty of Seringapatam
Fourth Anglo-Mysore	1799	Tipu Sultan killed at Seringapatam, 4 May 1799
First Anglo-Maratha	1775-82	Treaty of Salbai
Second Anglo-Maratha	1803-05	Followed the Treaty of Bassein, 1802
Third Anglo-Maratha	1817-18	Peshwaship abolished
First Anglo-Sikh	1845-46	Treaty of Lahore
Second Anglo-Sikh	1848-49	Punjab annexed by Dalhousie, 1849
First Anglo-Burmese	1824-26	Treaty of Yandabo
Third Anglo-Burmese	1885	Burma annexed

- Tipu Sultan died defending his capital Seringapatam on 4 May 1799; Mysore then went back to the Wodeyars under a subsidiary alliance.
- Punjab, 1849 - the boy Maharaja Dalip Singh was pensioned off and the Koh-i-Noor surrendered to the Crown.
- Bassein 1802 is a hinge: it is a subsidiary treaty with the Peshwa, and it triggered the Second Anglo-Maratha War.
- Do not mix Mangalore (Second Mysore) with Seringapatam (Third Mysore). Both are Mysore treaties.

The three land revenue systems - RPSC asks this one directly

This is the highest-value table in the chapter. Three systems, three areas, three officials. The question is almost always a match: system to person, or system to region. The underlying difference is simple - who does the government treat as the owner and who does it collect from. Permanent Settlement picks the zamindar, Ryotwari picks the cultivator, Mahalwari picks the village.

Where the Permanent Settlement applied

Bengal, Bihar and Orissa - Cornwallis, 1793; about 19% of British India

The three settlements - area, official, features

System	Where it applied	Official / year	Key features
Permanent Settlement	Bengal, Bihar, Orissa	Lord Cornwallis with John Shore, 1793	Zamindar recognised as owner; revenue fixed for ever; zamindar kept 1/11th and paid 10/11th; 'Sunset Law' auctioned estates of defaulters

System	Where it applied	Official / year	Key features
Ryotwari	Madras (1820) and Bombay	Thomas Munro and Captain Alexander Read	Settlement made directly with the ryot (cultivator); no intermediary; revenue revised periodically
Mahalwari	North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Central India	Holt Mackenzie, Regulation VII of 1822; revised 1833 under Bentinck by R.M. Bird	Village or mahal is the unit; joint responsibility of the village body; revenue periodically revised

Permanent Settlement vs Ryotwari – the core contrast

Permanent Settlement, 1793	Ryotwari
Revenue payer is the zamindar	Revenue payer is the cultivator himself
Amount fixed permanently – the state gained nothing from later growth	Amount revised at each settlement
Created a landlord class loyal to the British	Left the peasant directly exposed to the collector
Bengal, Bihar, Orissa – about 19 per cent of British India	Madras and Bombay presidencies

- The Permanent Settlement covered roughly 19 per cent of British India – it was never the all-India system.
- Sunset Law: if the fixed revenue was not paid by sunset on the due date, the estate was auctioned.
- Ryotwari is associated with Munro in Madras; Read was his senior in the earliest experiments in the Baramahal.
- Mahalwari has two names attached – Mackenzie for 1822, R.M. Bird for the 1833 revision under Bentinck.

The economic critique came from the early nationalists, and it is a small but repeated block. Dadabhai Naoroji argued that a part of India's wealth was being transported to Britain with no equivalent return - the 'drain of wealth'. He first put it in England's Debt to India (1867) and developed it in Poverty and Un-British Rule in India (1901). R.C. Dutt wrote the Economic History of India; M.G. Ranade wrote on Indian industry. Alongside the drain ran deindustrialisation - Indian handicrafts collapsed under machine-made British imports while tariff policy protected Britain.

YAAD RAKHO

Trick for the settlements: C-M-M. Cornwallis - Permanent, Munro - Ryotwari, Mackenzie - Mahalwari. Alphabetically C comes first and 1793 comes first too.

Charter Acts and the ladder to Crown rule

Six Acts, each adding one brick. Read them as a ladder: Parliament first supervises the Company (1773), then controls it (1784), then strips its trade (1813, 1833), then opens its services (1853), then abolishes it (1858). If you remember the one distinctive thing each Act did, every question here is answerable.

The constitutional ladder, 1773 to 1858

What each Act is remembered for

Act	Year	Distinctive provision
Regulating Act	1773	Governor of Bengal became Governor-General of Bengal; Supreme Court at Calcutta in 1774
Pitt's India Act	1784	Board of Control created; civil, military and revenue affairs under Crown supervision
Charter Act	1813	Company's trade monopoly ended except tea and the China trade; Rs 1 lakh a year for education
Charter Act	1833	Governor-General of India; Law Member added; Company's commercial functions ended
Charter Act	1853	Open competition for the covenanted civil service; separate legislative machinery
GOI Act	1858	Company abolished; Secretary of State for India with a 15-member Council; Governor-General became Viceroy

TRAP

Two classic wrong pairs. First - the Company's commercial functions ended in 1833, not 1793; 1813 only ended the monopoly (tea and China excepted). Second - dyarchy in the provinces has nothing to do with 1858; it came with the Government of India Act, 1919.

Education policy - Macaulay to Hunter

British education policy in India was settled by an argument: should the state teach in Sanskrit and Persian, or in English? Macaulay closed that argument in 1835 in favour of English, on the theory that a small educated class would pass knowledge downwards - the downward filtration theory. Wood's Despatch of 1854 then built the actual system, from village schools up to universities.

Education landmarks under the British

Landmark	Year	What it did
Macaulay's Minute	2 February 1835	English as the medium of higher education; downward filtration theory
Wood's Despatch	1854	Magna Carta of English education in India; graded system from vernacular schools to universities
First universities	1857	Calcutta, Bombay and Madras
Hunter Commission	1882	W.W. Hunter, under Viceroy Ripon; stressed primary and secondary education, transfer of primary schools to local bodies
Raleigh Commission	1902	Led to the Indian Universities Act, 1904
Sadler Commission	1917-19	Calcutta University Commission
Hartog Committee	1929	Quality rather than expansion of education

- Rammohan Roy was on the English side of this argument - his 1823 letter to Lord Amherst opposed the proposed Sanskrit College.
- Hunter 1882 is a British-era commission. Radhakrishnan 1948, Mudaliar 1952 and Kothari 1964 are post-independence - they belong to IH10.
- Wood's Despatch, not Macaulay's Minute, is the 'Magna Carta'. Both years get swapped in options.

1857 - causes, course, centres, consequences

Treat 1857 in four parts and you will not lose a mark. Causes - political annexations, economic ruin, army grievances, social-religious fear, and the greased cartridge as the spark. Course - a chronology from Barrackpore to Delhi. Centres - a pure matching table of place and leader. Consequences - the end of the Company and the birth of Crown rule. RPSC almost always picks the third and fourth.

- Political - annexations under Lapse, and the annexation of Awadh in 1856, which hit the sepoys' home province.
- Economic - heavy land revenue, ruin of artisans, the drain of wealth.
- Military - poor pay and promotion for Indian sepoys, service overseas, the General Service Enlistment Act.
- Social-religious - fear that reform legislation and missionary activity were aimed at religion.
- Immediate spark - the greased cartridges of the new Enfield rifle, believed to be smeared with cow and pig fat.

Why 1857 happened

Political

Annexations; Awadh taken 1856

Military

Low pay; service overseas

The spark

Greased Enfield cartridges

Economic

Heavy revenue; artisans ruined

Social-religious

Fear for religion and custom

REVOLT OF 1857

The chronology - learn these six dates

29 March 1857 -
Barrackpore, Mangal
Pandey

10 May 1857 - Meerut
sepoys revolt

11 May 1857 - Delhi
seized; Bahadur Shah II
proclaimed, Bakht Khan
the commander

June-Sept 1857 - Kanpur,
Lucknow, Jhansi, Bareilly,
Jagdishpur

8 July 1858 - Canning
declares the revolt suppressed

1 November 1858 - Queen
Victoria's Proclamation
read at Allahabad

Centre to leader - the matching question

Centre	Leader
Delhi	Bahadur Shah II, with General Bakht Khan as commander
Kanpur	Nana Saheb, assisted by Tatya Tope
Lucknow	Begum Hazrat Mahal
Jhansi	Rani Lakshmibai
Bareilly	Khan Bahadur Khan
Faizabad	Maulvi Ahmadullah Shah
Jagdishpur (Bihar)	Kunwar Singh

Centre	Leader
Allahabad	Liaquat Ali
Gwalior	Tatya Tope and Rani Lakshmibai, after seizing the fort in June 1858

Where the Revolt of 1857 took hold

Delhi, the Ganga plain and central India - the south stayed quiet

- Consequences - the East India Company was abolished and India passed to the Crown by the Government of India Act, 1858.
- A Secretary of State for India with a 15-member Council took charge; the Governor-General became Viceroy, Canning being the first.
- The army was reorganised - the proportion of European to Indian troops was raised and artillery kept in European hands.
- The Queen's Proclamation promised non-interference in religion and an end to further annexations.
- Bahadur Shah II was tried and exiled to Rangoon; the Mughal dynasty ended.

TRAP

Gwalior-Begum Hazrat Mahal is the planted wrong pair. Hazrat Mahal led at Lucknow. At Gwalior it was Tatya Tope and Rani Lakshmibai in June 1858.

One more angle RPSC likes - what the revolt was called. V.D. Savarkar's 1909 book The Indian War of Independence, 1857 first presented it as a planned national war. British writers called it a sepoy mutiny. In the centenary year S.N. Sen wrote Eighteen Fifty-Seven and R.C. Majumdar took the opposite view. For Rajasthan, remember that the revolt reached the state at Nasirabad on 28 May 1857 - the state-level detail sits in the Rajasthan history chapter, but the date is worth carrying here too.

Socio-religious reform - the founder-organisation-year table

Nineteenth-century reform is really two arguments. One is inside Hinduism - Rammohan Roy and the Brahmos want reason and one God, Dayanand wants a return to the Vedas, Vivekananda wants service. The other is against caste - Phule, Narayana Guru, Periyar and Ambedkar attack the structure itself. For the exam it becomes one thing: founder, organisation, year, place. Learn the table cold; RPSC asks it as a four-pair match nearly every cycle.

Socio-religious reform, region by region

Bengal, the Brahmo line and western India

Founder	Organisation	Year and place
Raja Rammohan Roy	Atmiya Sabha	1815, Calcutta
Raja Rammohan Roy	Brahmo Samaj	1828, Calcutta
Debendranath Tagore	Tattvabodhini Sabha	1839
Keshab Chandra Sen	Brahmo Samaj of India	1866
Split from Keshab's group	Sadharan Brahmo Samaj	1878
Atmaram Pandurang	Prarthana Samaj	1867, Bombay
Jyotiba Phule	Satyashodhak Samaj	1873
Gopal Krishna Gokhale	Servants of India Society	1905, Pune

- Rammohan Roy - published Sambad Kaumudi in Bengali and Mirat-ul-Akhbar in Persian; the title 'Raja' came from Mughal emperor Akbar II; he died at Bristol in 1833.
- Henry Louis Vivian Derozio taught at Hindu College, Calcutta (1826-31); his students were the Young Bengal or Derozians.
- Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar's campaign produced the Hindu Widows' Remarriage Act, Act XV of 1856.
- Kandukuri Veeresalingam performed the first widow remarriage in the Telugu country at Rajahmundry on 11 December 1881.
- Gokhale's Servants of India Society trained national missionaries; after his death in 1915 Srinivasa Sastri led it.

Arya Samaj, Aligarh and the anti-caste bodies

Founder	Organisation	Year and place
Dayanand Saraswati	Arya Samaj	10 April 1875, Bombay
Blavatsky and Colonel Olcott	Theosophical Society	1875, New York; Indian HQ at Adyar from 1882
Syed Ahmad Khan	Aligarh movement / MAO College	1875, Aligarh
Swami Vivekananda	Ramakrishna Mission	1 May 1897; Belur Math 1899
Swami Shraddhanand	Gurukul Kangri	1902, Haridwar
Narayana Guru	SNDP Yogam	1903, Kerala
E.V. Ramaswamy Naicker (Periyar)	Self-Respect Movement	1925
B.R. Ambedkar	Bahishkrit Hitakarini Sabha	1924

- Arya Samaj - slogan 'Back to the Vedas'; principal text Satyarth Prakash; launched the Shuddhi movement; DAV School, Lahore in 1886.
- Ambedkar's line of work: Mooknayak 1920, Bahishkrit Hitakarini Sabha 1924, Mahad Chavdar tank satyagraha 1927, Bahishkrit Bharat 1927, Kalaram temple entry 1930.
- Phule founded the Satyashodhak Samaj in 1873 to fight Brahminical dominance and to open education to the lower castes and to women.
- Vivekananda's Mission joined spiritual practice to social service - this phrasing appears in options.

ASKED IN RAS

Asked in RAS Pre 2023 - the Ramakrishna Mission was founded in 1897 by Swami Vivekananda. Note the two dates: Mission 1897, Belur Math 1899.

ASKED IN RAS

Asked in RAS Pre 2023 - the Servants of India Society, founded at Pune in 1905 to train national missionaries for the service of India, was set up by Gopal Krishna Gokhale.

ASKED IN RAS

Asked in RAS Pre 2023 as a four-pair match: Satyashodhak Samaj - Jyotiba Phule; Theosophical Society - Blavatsky and Olcott; Aligarh movement - Syed Ahmad Khan; Self-Respect Movement - E.V. Ramaswamy Naicker.

Social legislation - the four Acts that get asked

Law	Year	Detail
Abolition of Sati	1829	Regulation XVII under Lord William Bentinck, after Rammohan Roy's campaign

Law	Year	Detail
Hindu Widows' Remarriage Act	1856	Act XV of 1856; Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar
Age of Consent Act	1891	Associated with Behramji Malabari
Child Marriage Restraint Act (Sarda Act)	1929	Girls 14, boys 18; named after Har Bilas Sarda; in force 1 April 1930

CURRENT LINK

Current link, as of September 2026: 1875 is the anniversary year to keep in mind - the Arya Samaj (10 April 1875), the Theosophical Society (New York, 1875) and MAO College Aligarh (1875) all completed 150 years in 2025, and commemorative coverage of them ran through that year.

Separately, the Union government observed Janjatiya Gaurav Varsh from 15 November 2024 to 15 November 2025 for the 150th birth anniversary of Birsa Munda, whose Ulgulan against colonial land policy in Chotanagpur is the best-known tribal revolt of this period; 15 November is now observed every year as Janjatiya Gaurav Divas.

Exam-room drill - orders, firsts and the pairs they plant

ASKED IN RAS

Asked in RAS Pre 2018 as a four-pair match: Prarthana Samaj - Atmaram Pandurang; SNDP Yogam - Narayana Guru; Gurukul Kangri - Swami Shraddhanand; Brahmo Samaj of India - Keshab Chandra Sen. Reform-institution-to-founder matching has now come in 2013, 2018 and 2023 - treat it as certain.

Chronological order of the reform bodies - asked as an ordering question

YAAD RAKHO

Five firsts worth one line each: first Governor-General of Bengal - Warren Hastings (1773); first Governor-General of India - Bentinck (1833); first Viceroy - Canning (1858); first state under Lapse - Satara (1848); first state to accept the Subsidiary Alliance - Hyderabad (1798).

- Theosophical Society was founded in New York, not in India; only the headquarters moved to Adyar in 1882.
- Arya Samaj was founded at Bombay, not at Lahore - Lahore is where the DAV School came up in 1886.
- Bahishkrit Bharat is Ambedkar's journal; do not let it be attached to Vivekananda in a NOT-matched question.
- Wandiwash 1760 broke the French, not the Marathas - the Maratha closure is Salbai 1782.

CURRENT LINK

Current link, as of September 2026: anniversary arithmetic is the simplest current-affairs hook in this chapter, and it is the one commemorative coverage follows. 2026 is the 170th year of the Hindu Widows' Remarriage Act, Act XV of 1856, the measure Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar carried; his own birth bicentenary was observed in 2020. It is also 170 years since the annexation of Awadh in 1856, the grievance that carried straight into the sepoy lines - and 2027 will be the 170th year of the Revolt of 1857 itself, so expect 1857 to stay in the paper for two cycles together.
